History of North Wildwood

Located at the north end of Five Mile Beach in Cape May County, the City of North Wildwood was originally formed as the Borough of Anglesea on June 2, 1885. The Hereford Inlet Lighthouse, built in 1874, was the first structure built on the island and soon afterwards fishermen's cottages dotted the vicinity. The name of the municipality was changed to North Wildwood in 1906. In 1917 voters approved a change in the form of government, and the Borough became the City of North Wildwood.

A link to the mainland had come in 1883 in the form of the Anglesea Railroad, which later came into possession of the West Jersey Railroad in 1888. With the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines merger in 1933, the tracks through North Wildwood were abandoned and New Jersey Avenue right-of-way was sold to the City in 1950. Population of the community increased from 161 in 1900 to a peak of 5,017 in 1990. Although the trains brought many tourists for day trips on the beach and on fishing vessels in Hereford Inlet, a bridge built over Beach Creek was completed in 1924 that allowed families to come in automobiles and enjoy extended stays at any of the increasing number of hotels in the City. The modern, four-lane highway with a new bridge was completed in the 1990s.

The first Boardwalk was built in the 1880s, with boards being laid on both the ocean front (Surf Avenue) and inlet sections of the Beach. The ocean front Boardwalk was moved out further towards the high water mark, and for a number years extended from the border with Wildwood all the way to 2nd Avenue. The current Boardwalk has ended at 16th Avenue since the late 1930s.

History of North Wildwood

Area children attended class in a house on 1st Avenue until a school was built at Chestnut and Central in 1887. In 1908 a new school was built on Central Avenue between 9th and 10th which was closed in 1940 and later became the North Wildwood Recreation Center. The Margaret Mace School on Atlantic Avenue, between 12th and 13th, was built in 1925 as a Junior High School and took in all grades after 1940. This school was named for Dr. Margaret Mace, whose hospital at 25th & Atlantic opened in 1915 and closed in 1950. The Mace Hospital was located in the building formerly owned by Mr. Frederick Sutton, who had perished on the Titanic in 1912. Expansion of residential areas continued towards the ever-widening beach and culminated with the completion of the John F. Kennedy Beach Drive in 1964.

The area which in many of the original hotels stood in the northern part of the City has evolved into a vibrant entertainment district on Olde New Jersey Avenue. This district is the home of a number of special festivals held throughout the year. The beaches and Boardwalk continue to attract thousands of visitors each year, providing fun and activities for all to enjoy. The Hereford Inlet Lighthouse and its award-winning Gardens will be a highlight of anyone's visit to North Wildwood. From fishing on the seawall in the north end to strolling on the beach or Boardwalk at the south end, North Wildwood continues to be a great place to live and that makes it a great place to visit, as it has been since 1885.

NORTH WILDWOOD FISHING

North Wildwood is a great location for Back Bay saltwater fishing because of its close proximity to the Atlantic Ocean. Anglers can have their try at catching Flounder, Bluefish, Striped Bass, Sea Bass, Drum, Weakfish, and other species throughout designated fishing seasons. North Wildwood's Back Bay allows beginners as well as experienced anglers to navigate through beautiful scenic intracoastal waterways in search of that perfect catch. In the State of New Jersey, fishermen over the age of 16 are required to register with the Saltwater Recreational Registry Program. Fish caught must meet Recreational Minimum Size, Possession Limits & Season Standards. For further registration information and regulation requirements visit njfishandwildlife.com/saltwater.htm.

The Lighthouse grounds are a great place to relax and take in the ocean air, and a stroll through the gardens will allow visitors to enjoy the beauty of the seashore right up to the seawall at Hereford Inlet.

Veterans Monument

North Wildwood Veterans Monument is located at the corner of Spruce and New York Avenues in North Wildwood. Here, visitors can honor those who have fallen in the line of duty and pray for those currently fighting overseas.

The AngleSea Walk

The seawall was completed in 2006 and has not only protected the North end of the City during hurricanes and Nor'easters, but also functions as a walking and jogging facility, a popular fishing spot, and a place where residents and visitors can enjoy the wonderful views of Hereford Inlet. Since its completion, the City has added more access ramps and widened one section to make it safer. Due to safety concerns, no self-propelled devices, such as bicycles, skateboards, rollerskates, and the like, are permitted on the seawall. Beginning at 2nd & John F. Kennedy Beach Drive, the seawall runs in a northwesterly direction for 1.25 miles to the Anglesea Beach Colony. The seawall is known far and wide as a great place to exercise, fish or just relax, all year-round.
